FIRST DAD'S DAY IS SPLENDID SUCCESS

Clan Party Climaxes First Day Devoted to Kenyon Dads

75 DADS PRESENT

Kenyon Clan Play and Short Talks Conclude
Initial Day for Fathers

The presence of more than seventy-five Kenyon Dads, a smashing
grid victory, and the Kenyon Clan Smoker made Kenyon's first Dads'
Day a rousing success.

Thoroughly cheered by a Purple
football victory in the afternoon,
visiting Kenyon Dads descended upon Peirce Hall at 9:00 P. M. for the Clan play, "A Mere Bagatelle,"
and a few informal and short speeches by Bob Mueller, Clan
President, Rudy Kutler, "Scrappy"
Lambert, Dr. Lem Brigman, '08, and Heintz Beam, '08.

The first event was the rushing play "A Mere Bagatelle," put on by Clan members, Dramatists, and members of the 1935 football team.
The rushing worries and disappointments were accurately and humorously portrayed by Harry Brown, '37; Fritz Taylor, '37; John Bingham, '37; Jack Widmer, '38;
Rodney Boren, '38; Newell Lasher,
'36; Bob Mueller, '36; Paul Milli-
kin, '37; Henry Low, '38, and Bud Eustis, '37. The offering was warmly received by the two hundred in attendance.

Songs and general good fellowship followed, interspersed by short and convincing talks by the above mentioned men. Rudy Kutler and Eugene Lambert told Kenyon Dads, students, lettermen, and faculty of Kenyon athletics at present. The third speaker to be presented by Bob Mueller, who acted as toastmaster, was Dr. Lem Brig-man, whose football exploits of the past have made football history at Kenyon. In nine games Dr. Brig-man scored the astounding total of 258 points in the year 1908. The team that year won eight of nine games, dropping one to a strong Ohio State eleven by a count of 19-9.

Quoting Bob Mueller, we give the following: "The Kenyon Clan is extremely grateful to the Senior Council, Kenyon Dads, and Kenyon
students, for helping make Dads'
Day one of the most congenial

BROWN SCORES TWO

Line Plays Sensational
Ball to Crush All
Oberlin Thrusts

Lighthorse Harry Brown supplied the touchdown thrills for Kenyon fans Saturday, when the Mauve, with every department clicking, smashed its way to a 13-0 win over the stout defense of a haughty eleven from Oberlin. The victory gave the Lords a .500 percentage for the season, the best record made by a Kenyon football team since 1931, when four games
were won and three lost.

At the end of the game Benson
field looked as if Franklin Roosevelt had given orders to plough under every third yard, and the teams looked like Ethiopians coming from a sham battle in which tar was used for ammunition. But the grime and drizzle could not dampen the Purple spirit, and the game was the finest to watch of any played this season.

Kenyon received the opening kick-off, and with the first play announced that this was a winning day for the Lords. Jasper faked an injury and Thackery was rushed into the game. But instead of taking the place of Jasper he supplanted Paskins, who made the process simple by stepping out of bounds. Jasper, unnoticed, limped out into the clear, and Sammon threw a long pass to him. Dave fumbled the wet ball, but the play looked good, even when failing,
and the dismayed Yeomen knew that they were in for a long afternoon.

After that bit of trickiness, Kenyon took no chances, and the early stages of the game saw a punting duel. Sebach had a definite edge,

JOURNEY'S END IS TOMORROW NIGHT

War Drama To Be Initial Play Of Dramatists; Dr. Black
Is Director

War will provide the background
for the forthcoming three-act drama, "Journey's End," which is to be presented by the Dramatic Club
in Nu Pi Kappa Hall tomorrow evening.

The entire drama is a picture of the gruesomeness and tragedy of war. The story is of friends in the British army who are fighting at the front.

Work on the play has been going on for several weeks.

The twentieth rehearsal will be held this evening.

Scenery has been designed and built by Edmund P. Dandridge, '37, and sound effects have been devised and will be managed by Ralph H. Weeks, '37.

DANCERS ANIMATED: FIESTA APPROACHES

Campus "Shots" Express Views On Coming Hop; Deikman
Prepared For Glide

That this Fall Dance will be one of the better fiestas was revealed
when our inquiring reporter interviewed prominent Kenyon men.
Enthusiasm is running high in all quarters and Bill Turner tells us that the amount of cleaning and pressing he's handling is truly tremendous.

Quotations from the campus
"shots" follow:

George (Buzzie) Matthes—"I
won't dance."

John (Smokehead) Bingham—"I shall do all in my power to keep the dance orderly."

"Harpo" Marks—"Somebody
must carry on where "Moon Mad" MacNamee left off. Why shouldn't
I?"

Edmund (Dancing Dan) Dandridge—"I shall be there, with ears washed and face shining."

Anson (Bunny) Weeks—"Am
having twelve Kankakee gals up for the week-end. Kankakee will be proud of me."

Russ (Sure, these machines pay) Gruber—"If Deikman isn't any better than Kavelin, I'll bet he's almost as good, anyway. So there."

Well, see you in Peirce Hall.

DEBATE SQUADS PROGRESS

With the idea of making his students polished speakers before the regular debating season gets well under way, Dr. Black has already started intensive ground work for both of his squads.

The varsity debating squad is now working on the question: "Resolved, that Congress should be empowered to override by a two-thirds vote decisions of the Supreme Court in declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional." The first year group is now preparing to debate on whether we should have state medical aid.

DATES FOR RYERSON ART LECTURES SET

First Of Series Given Last Night
In Philo Hall By Dr.
Ralph Fanning

The schedule of five lectures on the Ryerson Foundation to be delivered by Prof. Ralph Fanning of Ohio State University, has been announced by the President's office as follows:

II. Wednesday, December 11:

"Two Giants of the Renaissance." (Comparative presentation of Florentine and Venetian painting through the work of Botticelli and Titian.)

III. Wednesday, January 8:

"Two Spanish Court Painters." (Comparative study of the 17th and 18th century social influences
as seen in the work of Velasquez and Goya.)

IV. Wednesday, January 15:

"Two Painters of the Low Lands." (The two phases of Low Country Painting as seen in the work of Rubens and Rembrandt.)
or if you prefer

"English Portrait Painting."
(The development of the prolific
18th century British art of portraiture from the Flemish Van Dyck of the 17th century to Sir
Joshua Reynolds and his contemporaries.)

V. Friday, February 14:

"Contemporary American Painting." (A presentation of painting
as a living art of today, reviewing the present trends as revealed by the International and other recent exhibitions.)

The first lecture on the "Appreciation of Painting" was given last night in Philo Hall by Dr. Fanning.

O'NEIL HEADS ECONOMISTS

At its last meeting, the Economics Club elected Bernard B. O'Neil,
'36, president; John E. Tutthill,
'37, who acted as temporary head
until the election, was named vice-president; and Franklin R. Marks,
'37, took over the position of secretary of the club.

DEAN TELLS OF NEW CLASS CUT RULING

Twenty Cuts Per Semester Will Be Allotted; Overcuts To Bring Credit Losses

Students taking more than twenty cuts in all their courses will be liable to the loss of one credit hour for each five overcuts or fraction thereof, according to an announcement from the Dean's office.
This decision was reached at a recent faculty meeting, but it has not been definitely passed as yet, since the group of resolutions in which the rule is included has not been voted upon in its entirety.

The resolutions affecting absences are herewith quoted as announced by the Dean: Absences
from any course may be required
by the instructor to be made up.
Absences in any course in excess of ten percent of the total class meetings shall make the student liable to dismissal from the course or to such other penalty as the instructor may impose. Absences from any course incurred on the two days before or after the Thanksgiving, Christmas, or Easter recesses shall be counted double. (These rulings have been in effect for some time.) The newly adopted resolution states that "absences in excess of twenty (20) in all courses taken by the student shall result in the deduction of academic credit at the rate of one semester hour for every five excessive absences or fraction thereof."

Other points that have recently come up for discussion are the definition of an absence and the question of whether distance from home has anything to do with the imposition of double cuts. That the instructor shall use his own discretion in defining an absence seems to be the general opinion on the first question, and there has never been any hard and fast rule regarding distances from home, this matter having been left to the instructor and the administration to decide.

THE COLLEGIAN wishes to take this opportunity to hand the KENYON CLAN a very fine bouquet for their sponsoring and for their promoting of Kenyon's first DADS' DAY. Resorting to the vernacular we say, "It was the nuts." From all that we were able to observe the entire week end was carried on in excellent taste. There was nothing forced nor strained about any portion of the entire week end. We believe you have started something which should not be permitted to peter out. If it should, for some unfathomable reason, it would be the gravest and most unforgivable error that Kenyon could commit. We believe that this single week-end has done and will do more for Kenyon College than any other single week-end, or, for that matter, any score of week-ends.

There was an intimacy and congeniality between Kenyon fathers, students, and faculty which we have never before seen here. Again we say, "Congratulations, and may your Dads' Days become one of Kenyon's finest and most beneficial traditions."

POSSIBLE OVERCUT

PENALTIES

It is in the air that the faculty is seriously weighing the advisability of adopting a new plan for the allowance of cuts. They are planning, we understand, to put teeth into the system and are intending to make things very awkward for those who are unfortunate enough to miss too many classes.

The plan, as it comes to us, will allow each and every student exactly twenty-five cuts per semester—no more and no less. In the event that this number of cuts be exceeded, the ruling will automatically deprive the student of the number of credit hours which he has over-cut. In other words, if one should take twenty-six cuts one will lose one credit hour. A drastic and unnecessarily harsh penalty.

We've been hearing, these past few months, of a new system of honors work which is to make Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, one of the more progressive colleges in this great land of ours. This new system at this little Ohio college was devised, so they tell us, in order to put responsibility upon the shoulders of the students who have now acquired good judgment and good sense. It was to give the students a certain amount of freedom which they might use to the best of their discretion. Individual study plans were to be used, with much depending upon the initiative of the student himself. The system also seems to encourage the seminar system, which through its very nature can do nothing but to give the student additional time for research in fields which he chooses.

Of course, we don't know a great deal about this new proposed plan for over-cutting, but we are of the opinion that it seems a bit out of order and somewhat pre-schoolish. It does seem that the note of progressiveness and the note of truant-officer stuff do not exactly coincide. But then, there are a lot of things in this world that we don't understand fully.

Dear Editor:

I am deeply interested in one new feature especially that you have seen fit to include in the COLLEGIAN this year. I refer to your reviews of current forms of entertainment; namely, books, records, movies and the like. Although I do not agree with you in all your beliefs, I am interested to know what you think about those various things. I wish you success in this new field, and hope that you continue.

J. B. C.

MANY LONG YEARS AGO

October, 1959

The "Old Kenyon Band," so long one of our cherished institutions, is most emphatically defunct. After a lingering illness of over one year, one by one its faculties departed, until its remorseless disease consigned it to a premature grave. No more "In the still night" shall our ears be greeted by its sweet melodies, alternately rising and dying away upon the midnight air, until under the soothing influence our over-worked system dropped into the arms of Morpheus. But regrets are useless, we recall with delight the pleasing associations connected with our late serenaders, and say, "Pax vobiscum!"

And now the star has again arisen, for have we not Happy Joe Hummelgard and His Happy Harmony Hounds?

November, 1859

The "meerscham" mania is upon us; and from the fact that Kenyon has so long escaped this, so generally prevalent disorder, it has reached us with redoubled force. Seniors, freshmen, and "barbarians", are to be seen at all hours of the day, industriously "puffing away" at their "Punches" and "Daniel Websters" through meerscham mouthpieces, and from every side, the query greets our ears, "How's your meerscham coloring?" We warned the meerscham devotees against puffing, lest their faces become the color of their mouthpieces.

And remember, Mr. Bates, every pipeful is a coffin nail, yea, even unto a board in the casket. We don't know much about your face changing color, but that might be something worth thinking about.

April, 1898

If I were asked I could not tell The color of her eyes; They may be dark, for aught I know,

Or blue as summer skies. I only met her once, and then, She wore a BLOOMER SUIT; I did not see her eyes, because Her ankles were so cute.

Oh well, what CAN be said about this?

November, 1898

Social events this Fall have been almost as scarce as our spare time. Social events, by the way, have that happy faculty of breaking the monotony of college life, and their absence is deeply felt. It was not, therefore, at all strange that the college was depopulated on Thanksgiving Day.

UNREST AND REVOLT

"Slaughterhouse" Aho, the cold-blooded and fearless leader of the newly founded STUDENT UPLIFT SOCIETY last night told 243 Kenyon students at a turbulent mass meeting, "A new day approaches and a new era is in the offing. In other words, there is to be a new deal—and it won't be OFF THE BOTTOM. We, the student uplifters, have devised a new and just FACULTY CUP SYSTEM. Let us assume that we pay $150,000 per semester as our tuition. (Of course, just a few suckers do pay it, but then, let's assume that we do.) By means of fairly simple division, it turns up that we pay $.60 per hour for exposure to various intellectual guidances. With these facts before us, we feel that we are not going beyond our rights in demanding that each time a member of the Faculty cut a class, he be asked to pay each and every member of his class the sum of $.60. Should a professor cut more than three times a semester the new ruling will automatically reduce his salary $500.00. My friends (apologies to the great white chief) are you for it or are you agin it?"

A deafening shout arose. "WE ARE," bellowed 243 throats.

The crowd then disbanded, seething and burning with a fierce desire for justice.

SUGGESTION

We think the world would be a finer place if the Commons would serve something besides that orange marmalade every morning, every day, every week, every month of every year.

PLEDGED

The Psychology Club has pledged the following men—Harpo Marks, '37; Ralph Weeks, '37; and Ted Cochrane, '39. Congratulations!

TATTLER

Vortriede spends thirty minutes trying to light compressed air in chemistry lab.

They tell us that Mattress's new room is nearing completion. Or could it be the Penguin's headquarters?

WITH EYE AND EAR

MOVIES, BOOKS, RADIO

MELEDRAMA fairly reeking of the gas lit stage of the "Gay Nineties" theatre is somewhat modernized in the movie "WAY DOWN EAST" showing tonight and tomorrow at the Vine. Such stock situations as turning the unwed mother and her child out into the snow, and a chase across the ice are all included however. The director has tried hard to keep us from being amused at these scenes, but one cannot help but feel that there is a good old fashioned drammer all dressed up a la 1935.

MUSIC, especially as dispensed by the one-and-only Alice Faye, is featured in Thursday's show "MUSIC IS MAGIC". Here is a burlesque on the film industry; good comedy and some rather catchy tunes.

MUNT's name always makes news and his latest picture "DR. SOCRATES" proves that he is still as versatile as ever. In it he portrays a physician who is forced by a gang to become their illegal practitioner in a small country town.

Stern drama of a very high standard. Professional ethics and Ann Dvorak, accompanied by much gun play all go together to harass Paul Muni throughout the 69 minutes of this featured feature. "MOON-LIGHT ON THE PRAIRIE" is, on the same bill. The title is probably self-explanatory. But wait, that's not all. Claude Hopkin's Orchestra performs very well in one of the short subjects. We don't know how you can see this bill though, for it is scheduled for Dance Week-end.

MAGNIFICENT is a good adjective to describe "NAUGHTY MARIETTA" which plays a return engagement at the Lyric Theatre on Friday. Very highly recommended due to singing of Jeanette McDonold and Nelson Eddy.

MANY of us will probably wait until Monday or Tuesday to see it, but "THANKS A MILLION" opens on Saturday at the midnight show. The song "I'm Sittin' High On a Hilltop", "Sugar Plum" and "Thanks a Million" are all in this tuneless which stars Dick Powell, Fred Allen, Patsy Kelly, Paul Whiteman, Ramona, and Rabinoff. Here's the best show of the week. Don't let anything stand in the way of your seeing it. We think you will like it almost as well as "Top Hat" even though it doesn't have Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers. To use a current slang expression in regard to this picture, we say "the stuff is here". Almost unreservedly recommended.

FACULTY ADOPTS NEW CHAPEL CUT RULING

A resolution requiring attendance at nine official chapel services each semester has been adopted by the faculty and goes into effect in the near future. Regular Sunday services, and the services at the opening of the college year, on Founders' Day, and at Matriculation shall count as official services.

Failure of a student to attend the required number of services shall result in the loss of academic credit at the rate of one semester hour for each excessive absence. This ruling was put into effect at the time that the traditional daily chapel services were discontinued, and puts on a definite basis the principle established by the trustees that students shall attend one half of the official college services.

M. KAWASAKI '29 VISITS GAMBIER

Mori Kawasaki, Kenyon '29, was a recent visitor at Kenyon, and he remained here almost a week visiting old friends. It was Mr. Kawasaki's first visit to the Hill since his graduation, and he was accompanied by his charming wife.

His visit was of double purpose, as he has business in America, and he combined this with the opportunity to bring to Kenyon Bill Yamamoto, who has entered here. While in Kenyon, Mr. Kawasaki was a member of Psi Upsilon, and Yamamoto has been pledged by the same fraternity.

COFFEE SHOP NOTE

A petition is being spread throughout the student body to restore charge accounts at the coffee shop, and those in charge report that many students have signed. Such a charge would be an optional one, and should meet with great popularity, although it would involve the services of a book-keeper.

KENYON'S RECORD IS THE BEST SINCE 1931

ELEVEN WINS 3, LOSES 3, TIES 1

Team Composed Largely
of Sophomores Makes
Good for Coach
Lambert

NEXT YEAR BRIGHT

In addition to marking the first time Kenyon has defeated the pig-skin aspirants bearing the colors of Oberlin, the splendid victory of last Saturday gave Coach Eugene Lambert's cohorts a .500 percentage for the season, the best record made by a Kenyon team since the 1931 session when Swanson, Stock, small men. Lambert immediately recognized that the guards were not big and fast enough to lead the interference and that the ends were not big enough to block out two-hundred pound tackles; so a running attack was out of the question. That was the birth of the "aerial circus" as applied to Kenyon, with Jack Sammon, a sophomore who had never played football, chosen to throw the passes. It was a dangerous stunt, but an experiment that more than succeeded.

JACK STED -- GUARD

But Lambert found more than material deficiencies; he found a team that did not want to win, a team that carried a false tradition that football could never be successful here. Lambert soon broke that tradition and put a team on the field against Denison on September 27 that was anxious for victory.

Even so, the team was too inexperienced for such a baptism under Ohio Conference fire. The Big Reds from Granville walked all over the Lords in the final quarter and romped off with a 27-6 trouncing. Kenyon's score came in the first half on a blocked kick which "Fritz" Taylor smothered, enabling Atlas Kirijan to fall on it in the end zone. Seven of the Mauve's starting eleven were sophomores, and like sophomores they showed a tendency toward fumbling, but the showing was promising.

Two weeks of vigorous practice followed before the team made the long trek to Rochester. Many eccentricities were ironed out and the same line-up took the field. At the half a 6-6 tie was in sway, the Purple touchdown due to a run by Jack Sammon for his first tally in intercollegiate competition. Then the Mauve came out for the after-

CARLETON "FRITZ" TAYLOR

led all over Kenyon in a 38-6 walk-over. It was disappointing, but chiefly because the Hobart team was underestimated, because they proved themselves to be a really fine ball club. A pass, Sammon to Jasper, proved to be the only Kenyon score of a long afternoon, while Hobart took advantage of the crumbling Kenyon line to finish stronger than they started, rolling up four touchdowns in the final quarter. But the most serious result of the Hobart game was the physical pounding that Kenyon received. Harry McGinness, leading Kenyon scoring with 18 points, received a shin bruise that rendered him useless for the rest of the season, and his absence was severely felt in the remaining games.

At Westerville on November 1, Kenyon crossed Otterbein's goal twice, but only one of them was written into the official records because of some questionable decisions by the officials. But the one touchdown scored was enough to tie up the ball game, and the final count was 6-6. The touchdown was scored by Thackery on a pass from Sammon.

The Mount Union game, played at Benson Field on November 8, was the most spectacular game of the season, but hardly the most satisfactory. The up-staters proved to be a classy eleven, but had difficulty in penetrating the Kenyon defense, and the ball game was split wide open to end in a wierd 28-13 decision for the visitors. Kenyon was leading at the half, 13-7, but then caved in to lose the ball game. It was this game that established the brilliancy of little Rodney Boren, whose 133 pounds of football energy provided the chief thrill. The touchdowns were scored on passes from Sammon to Boren and Jasper, and for a while it looked like Kenyon would provide one of the biggest upsets possible in the Ohio Conference.

Then came the Oberlin game, described in detail elsewhere in this issue. It is enough to say here that it was the sixteenth meeting of the two schools on the gridiron and the first Kenyon victory, although three of the battles have resulted in scoreless ties. That feat alone, whipping the Oberlin jinx, should prove beyond doubt that the team is on its toes, and we can only hope that next year's eleven will do the same thing. It is not a sign of insanity to say that with a little juggling by the schedule-makers, a season of nothing but wins would be entirely possible in 1936.

Coach Eugene Lambert

and Sammon combined to net four triumphs and three defeats.

The victory over Oberlin was by far the greatest feat of the current season, for the Yeomen boasted of a tie with the strong aggregation from Wooster, who in turn tied the husky Mt. Union machine.

It was fitting that Kenyon should close its season with such a fine showing on Dad's Day, and show the Kenyon fathers what an inspired eleven is capable of. Every department was clicking to perfection, and the trick plays Kenyon showed added the necessary touch to a smooth football machine.

All season the work of the line has been exceptional. Sted, Taylor, and Cann especially have captured the hearts of the fans by their aggressiveness, spirit and hard play. In the backfield little Rodney Boren was a sensation, and, until injured, Harry McGinness came through with many long runs and hard plunges. McGinness' injury left Kenyon without a plunger, although Sebach showed well in the final game. And do not forget Jack Sammon, who had never before played football, tossing his passes, punting, and running when called on. And Dave Jasper turned out to be one of the finest ends ever seen here, his special feat being his ability to tackle safety men.

Coach Eugene Lambert came to Gambier without any previous knowledge of the team. When he arrived, he found a squad of twenty-five men, only eight of whom had won letters last year. These eight consisted mostly of linemen, and despite their ambition were piece and snatched a handsome victory by two more touchdowns, both scored on plunges by McGinness, but both made possible by tosses from the accurate hand of Sammon. It was the first Kenyon victory in over a year and showed that Lambert's proteges were ready for the heavy stuff. The most encouraging feature of the game was the fact that only three substitutions were needed, showing that the team was in the best possible physical shape, something rare for Kenyon elevens.

The Hiram game was the next affair on the schedule and took place at Benson Field on October 19 with a large outpouring of alumni looking on. Lambert proved to everyone's satisfaction that the team had something, and that the game with Rochester was not merely a temporary flurry. Five plays after the kick-off Harry McGinness scored his third touchdown of the year by smashing his way through tackle. Sammon then kicked the extra point. That lead was never threatened and proved to be the deciding margin of triumph, even though the Purple threw away many scoring chances.

The turning point of the season was the occasion of the Hobart game, when the Genevans, led by the amazing work of King, tramp-

President Quotes Sinclair
Lewis Concerning
Kenyon

FAT FLIES TO FEAST

Dr. William F. Peirce spoke to 30 members of the Youngstown Alumni Association recently at an annual dinner. He told the group that Sinclair Lewis paid Kenyon College a flattering comment when he wrote in his latest book that Kenyon would be one of the first educational institutions to be abolished under a dictatorship because of its tradition of turning out men of independent character.

A report of the status of the college was given by Dr. Peirce. He said that the Honor plan inaugurated two years ago is beginning to show successful results. He told of the new swimming pool and new quick drying tennis courts, and other improvements.

Dr. Peirce who is himself an enthusiastic student of aviation had flown to Youngstown with Mr. Donald Gretzer. Mr. Gretzer reported that the school of aeronautics has passed the experimental stage. "We are treading an unbeaten path in teaching the theory and practice of flying purely for pleasure or recreation," he said.

Other speakers were the Reverend Leonard W. S. Stryker, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in Youngstown, and Judge David G. Jenkins, whose son is attending Kenyon.

The favorite Kenyon songs were sung with spirit, and it is believed that the association begins its new year under most favorable auspices.

Mr. Thurman Sprague, '13, was elected President and C. A. Christopher, '29, secretary and treasurer of the association for the coming year.

While in Youngstown Dr. Peirce was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Senft, and Mr. Gretzer was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. T. Davis.

three of his boots bouncing crazily out of bounds in coffin corner, as if they were pulled by a string. It was a remarkable exhibition of footwork, and kept the ball deep in Oberlin territory.

Unnecessary roughness later gave Oberlin a first down on the Kenyon 10 yard line, and W. Cooper chose to try for a field goal, just as a train passed noisily by to cause a mental hazard. The field goal was then missed, and Kenyon took possession of the spheroid on its own twenty.

It was then that Kenyon got the first break, when S. Cooper, the Oberlin end, was constantly off-sides, giving Kenyon three first downs with only five yards to go. Sebach's plunges always garnered the necessary yardage, and Kenyon soon found itself in position to pass, and a heave from Sammon to Harry Brown scored a touchdown eighteen seconds before the half ended. Sammon added the extra point.

At the start of the third quarter Oberlin began a drive down the field, interrupted by punts, but they were constantly gaining ground. Just at the psychological moment, Lambert sent in Taylor, and when Fritz spilled Berthold for a seven yard loss on the first play, the Yeomen thrust was stopped on the 19 yard stripe. That ended Oberlin's offensive for the afternoon.

During the fourth quarter Boren's generalship treated the Kenyon Dads to another touchdown party, caused by five remarkable passes by Sammon. The first was to Brown, and the second, to Boren, toted the pellet to the 21. Another pass, this one to Jasper, lugged the ball up to the 8, and paved the way for the touchdown, Harry Brown taking a heave into the end zone, after a flip to Boren reached the one yard line.

Sammon's kick for the extra point was wide this time, but another drive was again started, and was featured by the "dead man" play, which carried the ball to the sixteen yard line. Oberlin then received the ball on downs and tried a few desperate heaves as the gun announced the end of Kenyon's season.

The work of the line was phenomenal. Sted and Kirijan tackled fiercely, and Taylor backed up the line in superb style, after his belated entrance. Kewpie Cann had a lot of fun knocking down his man, and the result was a sorry afternoon for Oberlin.

It was a fitting climax to a successful season, and viewing the fact that no men will be lost, a vein of optimism seems conservative for the first time in years, when next year's schedule is contemplated.

WHAT THE MILDNESS OF CAMELS MEANS TO FAMOUS AVIATORS

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., famous holder of 214 speed records and the Harmon Trophy, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Making speed records tests the pilot as well as his plane. Camels never make me jumpy or bother my physical 'condition' in any way. As the athletes say, Camels are so mild they don't get the wind. And I've found they never upset my nerves. Camel must use choicer tobaccos."

"Camels don't get your Wind" Athletes say

"Speaking of cigarettes, I make it a rule to smoke Camels," says Mrs. T. W. Kenyon, sportswoman pilot. "They are the mildest cigarette! Morning, noon, and night, I can smoke Camels steadily. They never upset my nerves. And each Camel renews the zest and enjoyment of the last one."

"They Never Get on Your Nerves"

"I appreciate the mellow flavor of Camels," says Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the transpacific flyer, in a recent interview. "Camels refresh me so when I'm fatigued," he continues, "and they are so mild that I can smoke any number without throwing my nerves off key."

"They Never Tire Your Taste"

"I smoke Camels all I want," says Col. Roscoe Turner (right), 'cross-continent speed ace. "Because of their mildness, Camels never tire my taste. A speed flyer uses up energy just as his motor uses 'gas.' After smoking a Camel, I get a 'refill' in energy—a new feeling of vim and well-being."

Statistics prove that this year's Kenyon student body eats more food than any other similar group in the past few years. They also show that the present students, although less in number than last year's group, ate two hundred

(200) pounds more of butter during October than were eaten last year in the same month. The Commons Committee, alarmed by the facts, have hired U. S. Experts on Why People Eat More This Year Than Last. The Experts report that maybe this year's students are hungrier than they were last year, although they'd rather not have their conclusions published.

WEEKLY ASSEMBLY PLANNED

The Dean's office is submitting a plan to the Faculty which if met with favorably will provide for a regular weekly student assembly meeting, which is desired since daily chapel attendance is no longer required. It would be suitable for announcements by the president of the Assembly as well as for speeches and general announcements. Also a schedule for classes is being planned for next fall which will provide for a greater regularity of classes from 8:30 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon.

INTELLECTUAL BOOM BREAKS BOOK RECORD

Library Circulation For October
Shatters All-Time Mark With
Score of 719

Kenyon students are reading more this year, if statistics revealed by the library mean anything. According to the latest figures, the books circulated in October, 1935, reached the record-breaking total of 719, which is 113 more than in October, 1934, and considerably exceeds the previous high mark of 684, set in March, 1934.

The circulation of books for the year (beginning June 1) is also far greater than for a year ago. To the end of October, 1935, the total circulation was 1603, while last year's total was 1257.

The fact that the library was open regularly during the summer partially explains this increase. But there are other indications that Kenyon men are making greater use of the library. For example, the number of reserve books circulated among students in September, 1934, was 13; in September, 1935, 84; in October, 1934, it was 250; this October, 363. The circulation to November 7 this year is 196, more than half the total for November, 1934, when 378 books were circulated.

BROOKS, '35 GIVES CUP TO M. KENYON

To Be Presented To Student Who
Best Represents M. Kenyon
During Year

A silver loving cup has been presented to Middle Kenyon by a former president of the division, John Crawford Brooks, to be awarded to the man who best represents Middle Kenyon during the present year in scholarship, athletics, and campus activities. A committee of Faculty members, Trustees, and division officers will select the winner, who may belong to any class.

The cup itself is a beautiful trophy in silver, having inscribed upon it: "Service to Middle Kenyon, Kenyon College, 1935-1936." A place has been left for the receiver's name to be engraved. It may be seen on the mantel over the fireplace in the Cummings Room at Middle Kenyon, where it will be kept until the time of its presentation.

In order to award extra privileges with regard to overcutting, a suggestion will be made to the faculty that "seniors be allowed special privileges in attendance at the discretion of the instructor." Because of extra curricular work carried on by many seniors, the opinion is that they should be granted extra freedom. It might not always be necessary for them to be present at classes, and with the permission of the instructor they could be absent. On the other hand, the privilege might be abused. The wording of the suggestion, however, takes care of both sides of the question.

The faculty meets again about the tenth of December, at which time they will probably adopt the new set of regulations. At present only the rules quoted have been passed, and there is a possibility that when the entire group is put up for a vote, the group may not be adopted, as a whole.

The Clan feels that this day has been more than an adequate reward for our efforts. MICE SPEND SUMMER IN FLYING GARMENT Chasing mice from his fur-lined winter flying suit appears to be an annual event for Mr. Gretzer. When he brought out the suit Thursday from a locker where it was stored over the summer, instead of there being only one mouse as last year, a severe shaking of the garment produced three of the creatures who scurried across the hangar floor to find a new shelter. If the present yearly increase continues, perhaps next year mice quintuplets may be brought forth from the flying suit.

RIFLE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

George N. Munro, '36, was elected the first president of the Kenyon Rifle Club at a recent meeting of that newly founded organization. Arthur P. Schmidt, '37, was elected to the vice-presidency; Bernard B. O'Neill, '36, is the secretary; and I. Keith Neece, '39, is the supervisor of the range.

The club recently formed its constitution and passed upon it at this meeting.
